It was evidently highly ed by a large portion of the federal side of the Senate several of the gentlemen on that side restraining with difficulty their risible propensities. We do not der the cabinet and its organ are dissatisfied at such ature overthrow of their favorite champion, the nator from the "Empire State."

But we would respectfully inquire, if the cabinet intend rsue the policy of setting their organ to blackguard speaks in opposition to their policy during the present session? The democratic members of Congress desire to understand if they are to be lampooned and blackguarded by the organ of the cabinet, whenever they engage in debate? We hope the cabinet will cause its organ to enlighten the members on this point. At any rate, the cabinet and the organ will gain nothing by the policy which they are now pursuing. The democratic members intend to enjoy unrestricted freedom of debate during the present session; and we doubt not they will find an appropriate remedy for the scurrility of the cabinet organ.

The extraordinary events connected with the Rey case from the beginning to the end, and the recent circumstances connected with the prosecution of the Spanish con-sul at New Orleans, have impressed the public mind with the belief that there is something wrong in that transac-tion. Suspicion even attaches to the cabinet that their course is not altogether defensible. Certain it is, that the administration will be obliged to make a full disclosure of its relations with Spain from the date of the proclamation against the Cuba revolutionists to the present time. even the suspicions of the neutral press are aroused, as will be seen by the following article, copied from the Bal-

The Rey case —We cannot resist the suspicion that the result is the case of the United States against Carlos de España, charged with the abduction of Rey, was attnined by means atterly subversive of the ends of justice. The question involved in this proceeding is a momentum one; but unfortunately, like too many others in our country, it became so much entangled with political keilings, that party influences have uniquestionably been brought to bear upon it. This fact is in itself sufficiently disreputable; but if it has been, as we fear it has, the means of escape from merited contunely and expulsion from the country of one guilty of a high offence against the letter and spirit of our institutions, it is greatly pernicious and much to be deploted. The offence charged was sufficiently heinous in its character as against any man; but its moral turpitude is not altitle augmented as a transaction at the bands of the Online Terperature of a government with which we are at peace, and in whose behalf and protection the government of the United States lass so recently exhibited singular alsociaty.

His remarks were directed mainly to an inquiry into the causes of the existing war—the authority by which it had been commenced, and the purposes which it had in view. He contended that it was brought on by the unauthorized and unconstitutional acts of the administration; because, whatever acts might have been committed by Mexico, the President had not the right to take the subject, as he had done, into his own hands; it belonged to Congress, which was the only legitimate war-making power.

It is proposed in the Senate of the United States to call on the President to send to the Senate the papers furnished the departments, on which public officers have been removed by the present administration. But suppose the papers have been piffered and purloined—ure not on the files of the departments—what then? An "original" document, which should be in its place in the Treasury Department, was sent by the representative in Congress from this district, down to Provincetown for circulation about the streets there? Who knows how many more "original" papers (which it may be of great importance to injured and slandered democrats for the Senate to have a look at) are in like manner abstracted from the files of the departments? Let a search be made, and somebody be held accountable!—Barnstable (Mass.) Patriet.

The Massachusetts legislature met and organized at Boston on Wednesday, by the choice of Marshale P. Wilder as president of the senate, and Ensign H. The speech of Gen Cass on the Austrian mission and the appointment of Col. Webb is sought after and read with great avidity here.

In our house of delegates on Saturday, Mr. Merrick, of Charles county, introduced a series of resolutions, protesting against any interference on the part of Congress on the subject of slavery in the District of Columbia, and declaring the determination of Maryland to stand by the South in any violation that may be made of the spirit and intent of the constitution on the question of slavery.

The trial of George H. Hickman, esq., on the charge of having forged a power of attorney, with which the acrearages of pay of a deceased solder were drawn from the department at Washington, was brought to a close on Saturday evening, and a verdiet of "not gailty" promptly rendered by the jury. He was again straigned this morning on the charge of obtaining the land warrant of the same soldier by fraudulent means, and the trial is now progressing. There are said to be three more indictments against hum.

George Copwny, the Indian chief, lost another child at New York on Saturday by typhus fever, being the third that he has lost within a short time.

Several gentlemen in New York are making arrangements to open a college at California, and are collecting teachers and procuring the frame for college buildings.

The intelligence from Annapolis with regard to the United States senatorial vacancy indicates that there is to be quite a severe contest. Senator Potts, of Frederick, a new man, has entered the field from Western Mary and, and his friends are willing to vote for Pratt for one term, provided he has the other. The wire-pullers from all parts of the State are flocking to Annapolis in great numbers.

The markets—In the Baltimore market this morning flour was quiet—sales of about 300 bbls. Howard street at $4.75; some dealers were asking $4.874. Sales of red wheat at 100 a 104 cents, and white at 105 a 110 cents. Sales of yellow corn at 53 cents, and white at 50 cents. Rye 56 a 57 cents. Oats 32 a 33. Receipts of grain very light, and but little doing. Beef cattle.—At the scales to-day there were offered 1,050 head, 500 of which were sold to butchers and packers, and 260 were driven to Philadelphia. Prices ranged from $2.50 a $4 per 100 bs. on the hoof, equal to $5 a $7.75 net, averaging $3.25 gross. 5 extra cattle were sold at $5, equal to $9.50 net. Hoga were in demand at $5 a $5.25, but no supply in market.
